

SEVENTH ANNUAL
PITTSBURGH
BUSINESS ETHICS
AWARDS

FEBRUARY 15, 2008
OMNI WILLIAM PENN • PITTSBURGH, PA

PRESENTED BY THE SOCIETY OF FINANCIAL SERVICE PROFESSIONALS
PITTSBURGH CHAPTER

Sponsored by TRIB TOTAL MEDIA

www.pittsburghfsp.org
412.243.4315

Medium companies (250 to 2,500 employees)

IQ Inc.

IQ Inc. was founded by Barbara Van Kirk in 1994 to provide professional consulting, staffing, project management, and software development services to companies with Information Technology needs.

At IQ, Inc., the staff has always prided themselves on their ability to develop and cultivate client relations, without compromising integrity.

The company is dedicated to providing each individual employee with the opportunity to achieve their goals and interests, both professionally and personally.

To the clients, IQ, Inc. is committed to providing quality and professional talent to not only meet, but exceed their IT requirements by offering expertise in the following areas:

Requirements Analysis
Database Development & Administration
System Architecture
System Conversion and Maintenance
Software Design and Development
Help Desk / PC Support
Software Implementation
Technical Writing
Automated Test Tools

System Test Plans and Procedures

Field Service Support
Quality Assurance
System Integration
Networking Administration
Web Design & Development

Project Management
Training & Documentation
Configuration Management
IQ Inc. is certified by, or a distinguished member of:
Pittsburgh Technology Council
Central Westmoreland

Chamber of Commerce
Murrysville Business Development Committee

DBE certified for: Port Authority of Allegheny County
Southeastern Pennsylvania Transit Authority (SEPTA)

Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority (MBTA)
Tri-Country Metropolitan Authority (TriMet)

State of New York
WBE certified by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
American Public Transportation Association (APTA)

Bombardier

Serving a diversified customer base around the world, Bombardier Transportation is the global leader in the rail equipment manufacturing and servicing industry.

Its wide range of products includes passenger rail vehicles and total transit systems.

It also manufactures locomotives, bogies, propulsion & controls and provides rail control solutions.

Bombardier Transportation entered the mass transit market in 1974 with a first contract for the Montreal metro.

It subsequently embarked on a dynamic growth strategy, which combines internally generated expansion with a focus on acquisitions of other companies that have proven designs, know-how and technologies.

Bombardier Transportation offers a full range of rail vehicles for urban and mainline operation as well as modernization of rolling stock and operations and maintenance services.

Products include metro cars, light rail vehicles/trams, single and double-deck electric multiple units (EMUs), diesel multiple units (DMUs) and coaches; tilting trains and high-speed trains.

Bombardier Transportation also supplies complete transportation systems, from high-capacity urban transit systems to automated people movers.

Moreover, Bombardier Transportation offers electric and diesel locomotives; propulsion and controls; rail control solutions and bogies.

Limbach Facility Services

In 1901, Limbach started providing mechanical and sheet metal services to clients in Pittsburgh.

Today, Limbach Facility Services has grown to a $350 million national mechanical contractor.

It consistently ranks in the Top 10 of ENR's Top Specialty Contractors since 1964.

The company has 10 locations in Ann Arbor, Mich.;

Boston; Columbus, Ohio; Detroit; Los Angeles; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; Orlando, Fla; Washington, D.C.; and Tampa, Fla.

As a part of Limbach's culture, the company is committed to be the first choice mechanical contractor and service firm in the company's markets, consistently exceeding the expectations of our stakeholders, our customers, our employees, our investors and our partners.

Limbach strives to bring customers a wealth of industry experience, an established local presence, cost competitiveness, financial strength, a strong service record, and innovative building solutions.

Alpern Rosenthal

Salutes

Limbach Facility Services, LLC

on Their Nomination as a Finalist for

The Seventh Annual Pittsburgh Business Ethics Awards

Presented by:

The Society of Financial Service Professionals

ALPERN ROSENTHAL
INSPIRING OPPORTUNITIES

(p) 412.281.2501 www.alpern.com